COOPERATION UP TO TRUMAN G.O.P. DECLARES

Leaders Say President Must Stay on Middle-of-Road Course.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Republicans stipulated today that President Truman would have to stay in the middle of the road on legislative proposals if he wants their cooperation in the new G.O.P.-controlled congress. From Senators William F. Knowland (R-Calif) and C. Wayland Brooks (R-Ill) came assertions that their fellow Republicans will reject what Knowland called a "PAC-drafted" law making program and what Brooks labelled "completely socialistic proposals."

"We need some of the same unity of purpose that has marked the development of our non-partisan foreign policy in solving the nation's grave domestic problems," Knowland told a reporter. "We don't want the nation to swing either too far to the left or too far to the right. We want to keep it on an even keel. And we don't want any PAC-drafted legislative program shoved at us as has been in the past."

Questions Truce Bid

Brooks said he wondered whether the President's conciliatory bid yesterday for a political truce on pressing national problems would be any more lasting and effective than Mr. Truman's appeal for the same sort of cooperation when he took office 19 months ago.

"When Mr Truman first became President," the Illinois senator said, "he asked for cooperation from the congress Then he proceeded to present and tried to force through completely socialistic proposals The people have spoken and they have said they don't want that kind of program."

In Cincinnati Sen Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) predicted that President Truman because of his apparent "change" in position, would get more cooperation from a Republican congress than he got from outgoing Democrats.

Aware of Responsibilities

In a statement to newsmen, Taft said:

"The Republican majority in the new congress is fully aware of its responsibility to present a constructive legislative program in accordance with the wishes of the electorate, as indicated last week.

"If the President accepts the verdict of the electorate he will have few difficulties with the congress The reason for the controversies during the past two years is that the President's proposals always followed the line of increased executive powers."

Taft said "even the Democratic congress was determined to reject such a totalitarian and PAC program There is reason to believe that the apparent change in the President's position will lead to more cooperation from a Republican congress than he received from the outgoing Democratic congress."

Foreign Policy Cooperation

Without dissent, Republican leaders pledged their efforts toward continuing present foreign policies unchanged. But Senator

TRUMAN SCHEDULES HOUSING CONFERENCE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov 12—President Truman today summoned Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt to the White House for a conference on housing problems stemming from the removal of price and wage controls

Along with Wyatt, Reconversion Director John R Steelman and George E Allen, a director of the reconstruction finance corporation, were called to the 3 30 p m. meeting.

In announcing the conference, White House Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that "obviously it will deal with the housing situation

In ordering removal of price ceilings on building materials and other items over the week-end, Mr. Truman said removal of the controls "will obviously necessitate a change in the approach to some of the problems in the housing program"

Wyatt reportedly favors, among other things, a large scale drive to encourage construction of more homes for rent. His aides say this is necessary because the national housing agency may have to raise the lid on new home sales prices from $10,000 to $12,000

Victim of Gas Fumes Unconscious 5 Weeks

William Ernest Wiltred is in his fifth week of unconsciousness after being overcome by gas fumes in his trailer home at the Tabor Adams farm east of Marion Wednesday, Oct. 9 His condition is reported by City hospital authorities to be unchanged. Three weeks ago a brain specialist from Columbus was called in for an examination and he confirmed the reports of the attending physician. He has not responded to any treatment.

Cooperate? Yes, But No More New Deal, Cong. Smith Says

Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion today joined other Republican congressional leaders in predicting the coming 80th congress would offer full cooperation with President Truman in the next two years.

However, he laid down a definite line on which he thought cooperation would be offered. It eliminates the possibility of any future requests from the White House for passage of New Dealish legislation. Congressman Smith in a statement today also set up certain standards he believes the next congress should maintain.

"The 80th congress will welcome cooperation from the President and will endeavor to reciprocate," he declared.

He said however, that "the mandate given the new congress by the people precludes it from enacting any further New Deal legislation so the President should not expect cooperation from congress in this respect."

Definite Mandate

Continuing Congressman Smith said: "It must be understood, if the overwhelming Republican vote means anything it is that the congress has been given a definite mandate to put an end to deficit spending, completely demolish bureaucracy, terminate all dictatorial powers of regimentation and restore our liberties and constitutional government.

"I think it is reasonable to say the expression of the voters indicates they expect cooperation from President Truman to this end."

He declared one of the principal aims of the new congress would be to get the government out of business and to eliminate bureaucracy from it.

"In eliminating bureaucracy it is, of course, necessary to abolish government corporations, beginning with the Reconstruction Finance Corp. Treasury policy of monetary manipulation also must come to an end

"Something definite must be done to restore the constitutional right of individuals to freely contract with employers.

"The government must be taken out of business The enormous assets in the form of factories, land, etc, held by the government should be liquidated and funds derived therefrom applied to the federal debt.

Must Retain Sovereignty

"With respect to our foreign policy our sovereignty must be thoroughly maintained. We must strive for fair and equitable trade relationships between our country and all other countries, but we must keep our politics to ourselves and see to it that other countries keep their politics out of our affairs."

The congressman predicted the current contest for majority leader when the Republicans organize the next congress will be decided without any serious difficulty and that harmony will prevail in the party.

KING GEORGE GIVES BRITISH LABOR VIEWS

Speech to Parliament Outlines Government's Coming Program.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 12 — King George VI, in a parliament-opening speech presenting the views of his labor government, called today for legislation continuing conscription for the British armed forces and for nationalization of inland transport and electric utilities

The monarch presented his message to parliament after a traditional ride through London's streets during which he was guarded against any possible attack by Jewish extremists by every policeman Scotland Yard could spare — more than 5,000 all told

The king's speech marked the opening of the second parliament since Labor took over the reins of government and took place amid pre-war pomp and ceremony of centuries-old tradition—and the reality of the most elaborate and stringent precautions since the 1939 and 1940 bombings attributed to the Irish Republican Army.

The royal message, prepared by the Labor government, set forth government views on both foreign and domestic affairs.

Urges Peace with Germany

The king urged negotiation of a peace with Germany under "conditions which will foster true democracy, will guarantee the world against further attempts at world domination and will remove the financial burden which occupation has laid on my people."

Indicating the government's intent work for eradication of international trade barriers, the king spoke of his "earnest hope" for the success of negotiations now under way in London for expansion of world commerce and employment.

He also announced the government's desire to improve living conditions in Britain, promising increased housing and increased food supplies to a nation weary of shortages and rationing.

Also recommended were measures to establish a ministry of defense—combining the three fighting services of air, sea and land—and to make effective the 1944 Chicago convention on international civil aviation.

Presents Labor Policy

The king's brief message was simply a matter-of-fact presentation of the Labor government's legislative intentions for the second parliament since it climbed to power 15 months ago.

In one short paragraph, the king indicated that the government had plans to set up tighter controls for the London stock exchange and not to permit return of the free cotton market closed during the war.

To encourage development of an efficient agricultural industry in Britain, the king said proposals would be laid before parliament to provide a "system of guaranteed prices and assured markets for the principal farm products"

Three Proposals Named

Three proposals due to have a profound effect on Britain's economic life were dealt with in fewer than 100 words.

"A measure will be laid before you," the monarch said, "to bring the inland transport services under national ownership and control; and you will be asked to approve proposals to deal with compensation and betterment in relation to town and country planning and otherwise to improve the machinery of planning.

"A bill will also be submitted to you to bring into national ownership the electricity supply industry as a further part of the concerted plan for coordination of the fuel and power industries."

The king, wearing the uniform of an admiral of the fleet, spoke for 13 minutes from the throne in the House of Lords to a joint session of both houses attended by other members of royalty and a large section of the diplomatic corps.

Much of the medieval ornamentation of a full state opening was absent but it still was a brilliant spectacle despite the grim watchfulness of the police, acting on anonymous threats that Jewish underground organizations in Palestine intended to carry their violent efforts to Britain itself.

35 Killed, 80 Hurt In French Train Collision

By The Associated Press

METZ, France, Nov. 12 — At least 35 persons were killed and 80 injured today when an east-bound local train on the Paris-Strasbourg line smashed into the rear of another east-bound local standing in the station of Revigny-Sur-Ornain, 138 miles east of Paris.

Fog blanketing most of northern France was blamed.

Violence Flares Anew In Long Movie Jurisdictional Dispute

By The Associated Press

New violence broke out in the long AFL jurisdictional dispute in the Hollywood movie studios today, following the first production shutdown in nearly two months and resumption of mass picketing and wholesale arrests.

In other labor disputes across the country, government mediators made efforts to settle two major strikes while in Washington Secretary of the Interior J A Krug and John L. Lewis postponed for 24 hours their negotiations to avert a walkout next week by 400,000 soft coal miners.

In the movie strike, an explosion which police said apparently was caused by a hand grenade shattered a window and severely damaged the home of Norman Pottle, a non-striking film technician, in Van Nuys, Hollywood suburb He told police no one was hurt in today's blast The missile apparently was thrown from the street against the front of his house.

36 Pickets Arrested

Yesterday 36 pickets were arrested and charged with parading without a permit when mass picketing was resumed at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. There was no violence.

There was no hint as to what progress, if any, was made at yesterday's first meeting between Krug and Lewis since the president of the AFL United Mine Workers demanded wage-hour negotiations Lewis has contended that the present contract with the government will end on Nov 20 and in keeping with the union's "no contract, no work" policy, a work stoppage could become effective at that time Lewis has not announced details of his new demands for more pay and shorter hours

Neither was there any hint of the cause of the postponement of today's scheduled meeting

Meanwhile, government mediators sought to bring peace in the 196-day strike at the Allis-Chalmers manufacturing plant at West Allis, Wis, and in the 23-day strike of 1,400 AFL Trans-World Airline pilots.

Maritime Talks Resumed

In San Francisco, efforts to end the 42-day-old maritime strike in all Pacific coast ports were resumed at a conference of labor department, union and employer representatives

After a strike of more than two months, the 525 members of the Los Angeles Herald-Express unit of the CIO American Newspaper Guild accepted management's offer of a 14 per cent wage increase upon return to work However, final settlement hinged on the outcome of disputes between management and two other groups, the CIO News Vendors and the AFL-Allied Printing Trades

One of the printers' grievances was in connection with stoppage of wage payments on Oct 19 A company spokesman said management had proposed to the printers and vendors that they return to work when called, negotiate on wages for 60 days, and if no agreement is reached, submit the issue to arbitration

The Guild accepted the 14 per cent pay hike upon return to work, with the stipulation that negotiations start on its revised demand of $90 weekly top minimum for experienced reporters, photographers and district circulation managers The original demand was $100 weekly. Top newsmen would go back, pending negotiations and arbitration, at $80 weekly.

LAMB PRICES REACH ALL-TIME HIGH HERE

Up $2.90 To Hit $26 at Stockyards Weekly Auction.

Lamb prices hit an all-time high at the Marion Union Stockyard sale yesterday, with top prices on choice animals quoted at $26, $2 90 higher than last week's high and considerably over top lamb prices in nearly all livestock markets throughout the country, the stockyards reported today

Yesterday's lamb prices were the highest on record here, officials said They ran $1 40 higher than lamb prices at Chicago. Officials attributed the high prices to the shortage of lambs throughout the country and pointed to the wide margin between the $26 paid for choice lambs and the $7 high paid for ordinary sheep. The prices indicate, they said, that the public is eating lamb cuts but not mutton.

Forty-two head of lambs brought the top price and 196 others sold for from $25 to $25 80. Total sheep and lamb receipts were 1,132, which is less than on some previous sales this season

Prices on other livestock, including hogs, calves and cattle were steady compared to those of last week, stockyards spokesmen said

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 12—Federal Judge Frank L. Kloeb today reduced from 18 months to one year and a day the sentence of Morris Sturgis, Kenton, O, grocer, convicted of violating OPA price ceilings on meat.

Judge Kloeb said the action was taken because price ceilings on meat no longer existed and not because of hardship on Sturgis' family and business, as the grocer's petition for reduction of sentence had pleaded.

Sturgis entered the federal prison at Milan, Mich., Oct. 7.

C. Of C. Speaker Sees Danger In Loss Of Faith In Freedom

By AUSTIN E. SHOWMAN

Because men have begun to lose faith in freedom and are turning to the state instead of to God, we are facing the most critical period in the history of our country, Dr. Alfred P. Haake of Chicago, industrial consultant and economist, told an audience of men and women gathered at Hotel Harding last night for the annual Marion Chamber of Commerce banquet.

The former professor of economics at Rutgers college and now mayor of Park Ridge, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, pointed to reports of possibilities of war with Soviet Russia, attacked the Communists in this country and the CIO for what he called its communistic backing, but he termed as even more dangerous the "good people" of America who would seek to promote their communistic beliefs under the cloak of humanitarianism.

He emphasized that far more serious than the danger of a war with Russia was the danger of "committing suicide by losing our grip on freedom to those who would put the state above God."

In referring to the Communists, he declared, "They will stop at nothing to make their will prevail . . . the CIO is influenced by the Communists far more than is good for us. The real threat to our freedom comes not from without our country but from within, he pointed out.

Compares Economic Standards

In comparing our economic standards with those of other countries he remarked that only seven per cent of all the people in the world live in the United State, a country which has 50 per cent of the world income. He said the United States has done better than most countries in distributing its wealth among its people, but he warned that we are losing one thing so important in the days of George Washington—the love of freedom. "It was on the recognition that man was free that we built our nation; now we are coming to worship material things," he declared.

Dr Haake, author of a code for the NRA, onetime economic consultant to Dr. Rex Tugwell and later one of the first opponents of the NRA, stated that production is the keynote on which we must build a sound economy. He accused the OPA of merely concealing inflation. "You don't cure inflation by holding down prices, you must produce more," he said, and he added, "real purchasing power is in goods." He insisted that strikes in the last analysis were not against industry but against other workers who must finally pay higher prices for the commodities they buy.

"Faith in God, faith in oneself and a willingness to work. That's what America needs," he concluded.

Praises Work of C. of C.

The General Motors Corp. consultant opened his address by praising the work of the Chamber of Commerce as a "civic unity association" which worked for the interests of community welfare. "The future of America lies not in her great cities, but in her small communities like Marion," he said, "with each man doing his

BAR, PACKAGE SOAP HIKED 50 PER CENT

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov 12—Prices for bar and packaged soap took an approximate 50 per cent rise today, officials for two of the nation's largest soap manufacturers announced

Spokesmen for the Procter and Gamble Co, and the M Werk Co, declared ingredient cost had risen as much as 100 per cent since the removal of price ceilings and labor costs had risen 50 per cent since soap prices last increased five years ago.

Both officials said the new higher prices "may attract some small addition amount of soap into consumer channels but the current soap shortage will not come to a quick end"

The Procter and Gamble representative said his company's small size cake of toilet soap will be sold to dealers for three cents more and that the retail price will show a corresponding rise. The price of laundry soaps, he said, will rise from 12 to 14 cents for the 21-ounce package, raising the retail price from 23 to 35 cents

In Boston, Walter McKee, vice president of Lever Brothers, one of the major soap manufacturers, reported his company's products were being increased immediately by "approximately 50 per cent" He said raw materials—fats and

New Operation To Save "Blue Babies" Formerly Impossible

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 12—A new way of performing the operation to save the lives of "blue babies"—introducing a surgical feat previously considered impossible—was announced today by three Northwestern university physicians.

Instead of connecting with a less important artery, the surgeons for the first time tapped the body's main artery, the great abdominal aorta, which springs from the heart's left chamber and gives rises to all the arteries of the circulatory system.

Physicians said the operation would not benefit all "blue children," who are born with crippled hearts, but would help the majority to overcome otherwise hopeless invalidism and in some cases prevent death

Details of the new surgical technique, first performed on a human being (a 21 months old girl) only two months ago, were announced in the journal of the American Medical association by Drs. Willis J. Potts, Sidney Smith and Stanley Gibson of Children's Memorial hospital at the university's medical school.

They said the operation achieves the same result as one originated by Dr. Alfred Blalock and Dr. Helen B. Taussig, who in 1944 performed the first successful operation on a "blue baby" at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore.

The malformed hearts of "blue babies" cannot pump enough blood to the lungs to pick up the vital oxygen needed by the body. This deficiency results in blue fingernails, purple lips, blueish complexion and, sometimes, death.

EVIDENCE OF COMING SOVIET APPROVAL SEEN

Hope Mounts as Molotov Says U. S., Moscow Plans Can Be "Harmonized."

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Fresh evidence that Russia may eventually agree to some form of international inspection to enforce disarmament, including elimination of atomic weapons, was seen today in an assertion by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov that Russian and American arms reduction proposals can be "harmonized"

At the same time he declared that an armaments race already has started, and he urged prompt action by the United Nations to stop it.

From Secretary of State Byrnes came a promise that the American government, which is insisting on an inspection system, would have more to say on disarmament "at the proper time," and British Foreign Secretary Bevin declared that in the effort to obtain worldwide arms reduction "my government will not fall behind"

Speak at Dinner

The three spoke last night at a dinner of the Foreign Press association after completing their first review here of five projected Axis satellite peace treaties. Reports on their work to date showed them to be still stalled on all major issues ranging from control of Trieste to free navigation on the Danube river.

One source of prolonged dispute between the United States and the Slav states apepared to have been removed, however. Diplomats reported Byrnes had informed the foreign ministers council yesterday that the United States had ordered occupation authorities in Germany to release several hundred seized Danube river vessels of Hungary and other Eastern European countries—something those countries, with Russian support, have been demanding for months.

Today the foreign ministers turned over to their deputies and technical experts some of the disputes which have knotted their own discussions and themselves prepared to return to an attack on major differences in the Italian treaty

Face Trieste Problem

This presumably meant they would be face to face again with the problem of Trieste and there was speculation as to whether they would give Italy and Yugoslavia more time to try to compromise their differences or themselves seek a final settlement in line with earlier decisions to internationalize the troubled area.

But the speeches of all three foreign ministers to the press association last night disclosed that while their day to day task here is treaty making, one of their great concerns is the problem of disarmament.

In this connection some authorities suggested that Molotov had shown a highly conciliatory attitude toward the American proposition for an international inspection to safeguard arms cuts against violations, even though the official Soviet view to date has been unfavorable.

To "Meet" Americans

Referring to his own proposals of two weeks ago for an immediate start on disarmament by the United Nations assembly, he welcomed the fact that the United States had "met the proposal" and said that for its part the Soviet delegation here is "also willing to meet" the American delegation on the issue.

To this he added his expressed confidence that the Russian and American proposition "can be harmonized." Although he did not specifically refer to the inspection proposal, it was this assertion that led to renewed hope here that Russia might eventually be willing to come to terms on an effective inspection system — even thought it might be a compromise short of what the United States desires.

Borden's

Mackenzie Calls Korea Dangerous Spot For Peace

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There are grave problems already waiting in the foreign field for that cooperation which has been promised between President Truman and Republican congressional leaders under the new set-up resulting from the national elections

DewittMackenzie

This is the most critical hour in international affairs since war's end It is with good reason that the Chief Executive characterizes the foreign policy as a "national and not a party program," for peace is in the balance

The western world has come to look on Europe as providing the greatest danger spots—perhaps because we are close to them—and there's no doubt about their seriousness However, don't forget the Pacific, for the Far East is as full of explosive as an atomic bomb, and if fate decrees that we must have another war it may come out of the Orient quite as easily as from the familiar [illegible] grounds of conflict in Europe

One of the delicate questions revolves about the American proposal to place Japanese-mandated islands and other former enemy islands under a United Nations trusteeship with the United States as the administering authority Indications from Moscow are that Russia will reject this proposition The official Soviet news agency Tass, refers to it as a 'United States attempt to make a huge part of the Pacific with a huge number of islands its own strategic zone which may be bound up with a plan preparing for future war'

Key-Notes Situation

The allegation gives us the key-note to this whole involved Asiatic situation which of course comprises far more than the Japanese islands For instance, take Korea which is quite as likely to produce war as most any spot you can mention This country of some 85,000 square miles (a little more than a third bigger than New England) is small on size but mighty in strategical value—so much so that it long has been a pawn in the Asiatic game of power politics Control of Korea was one of the chief causes of the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-5, as it had been of the Chinese-Russian conflict a decade earlier

Now we find Korea divided in two at the 38th parallel, with Russia in control of the northern portion, and the United States of the south That 38th parallel is like a Chinese wall to the unhappy country The north is the industrial part of the state, and the south the agricultural. The Russians permit no traffic between the two and Korea thus is in a bad way.

Korea Was To Be Freed

President Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at a secret meeting in Cairo in November of 1943 agreed that Korea should be made free and independent 'in due course' But the way things now stand she is looking at independence through the big end of the telescope

All the signs are that the Soviet intends to stay right where she is in Korea, which is a mighty buttress to her great Siberian port of Vladivostok and to the Manchurian ports of Dairen and Port Arthur in which Moscow is vitally interested Under the thirty-year friendship treaty signed by China and Russia in August 1945 Dairen was to be a free port, open to all nations, but administered by China The great naval base of Port Arthur was to be used jointly by Russia and China

Just as Russia intends to stay where she is so there are no indications that Uncle Sam intends to decamp Thus the only easement of this 'impossible' and highly dangerous position can come through simultaneous withdrawal of both countries after a cut and dried agreement that assures Korea independence That's a tougher situation even than the Jap islands

Sugar, Not Frost Puts Fall Color in Nature Picture

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—It's sugar and not Jack Frost that tints the foliage of autumn with reds, yellows and browns, says the forest service of the U S Department of Agriculture

Popular belief to the contrary tree leaves actually change color before cold weather begins as part of the plants' preparation for winter

"All during the spring and summer," says a booklet just released by the service, "the leaves have served as factories where foods necessary for the tree's growth have been manufactured In the fall when the cool weather causes a slowing down of the vital processes, the work of the leaves comes to an end The machinery of the leaf factory is dismantled Whatever food there is on hand is sent to the body of the tree to be stored for use in the spring

"All that remains in the cell cavities of the leaf is a watery substance in which a few oil globules and crystals and a small number of yellow, strongly refractive bodies can be seen. These give the leaves the yellow coloring It often happens that there is more sugar in the leaf than can readily be transferred back to the tree When this is the case the chemical combination with other substances produces many color shades varying from the brilliant red of the dogwood to the more austere red-browns of the oak"

FLOUR ENRICHMENT REQUIREMENT ASKED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12—Public health officials in 29 states today were urged by Dr Russell M Wilder of Mayo clinic to seek state legislation requiring enrichment of white flour, bread and rolls with vitamins and iron.

Nineteen other states and two territories already have enacted such legislation to conform with federal standards, Dr Wilder told the annual convention of the American Public Health association

"Essential features of the state enrichment laws are the requirement that all white bread, rolls and white flour, excepting cake flour and other specialties, must be enriched before sale to the consumer," he said.

States having enrichment laws are Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina South Dakota Texas Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming In addition, similar laws have been enacted in Hawaii and Puerto Rico

At a dinner of the American School Health association meeting simultaneously with the public health officials' group last night the William A Howe award for outstanding contribution to school health was made to Dr John E. Burke assistant superintendent of schools Schenectady, N Y Dr Charles H Keene, professor of hygiene, University of Buffalo, and Dr John Sundwall of the School of Public Health University of Michigan

CRUSADING PASTORS TO LEARN ANSWER

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O Nov 12—Steubenville's 12 crusading pastors expect to learn tonight whether they have a chance of being appointed special policemen to wage their own campaign against the city's vice and crime in their own way.

Legislation which would permit officials to grant the dozen Protestant ministers the police powers they asked will come before city council at that time

The ministers more than a week ago asked city officials to grant them the special powers and allow them to recruit 20 World War II veterans to help in smashing gambling, organized vice, policy rackets and prostitution

So far, the pastors' request has not been met and while awaiting the outcome of tonight's council session, the group attempted to arrange a conference with Gov Lausche and present him petitions, signed by 760 citizens, asking the governor to appoint a special grand jury and prosecutor to investigate conditions here

Plainly aroused by the "bad press" the city and county has received as a result of the crusade, Sheriff Robert D Bates blamed Cleveland and Pittsburgh newspapers in particular

"Those papers," said the sheriff in a prepared statement, "could devote their whole front pages to crime conditions in their own cities. As to Steubenville being known as 'Little Chicago,' we have eradicated the red light district that gave the city its notoriety.

"There was a time when people came from all over the country to see Steubenville's 'boys' town,' the organized houses of prostitution on Water street But those houses are not there anymore, and they won't be as long as I am sheriff"

Bates said he believed conditions here were grossly exaggerated

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Coronary Thrombosis

CORONARY thrombosis first described in 1912 by that well-known Chicago physician, Dr James B Herrick, is a disease whose symptoms are caused by a clot in the coronary arteries which furnish the heart muscle itself with blood.

When the heart is deprived of part of its blood supply in this way, a serious situation may result, which if not relieved may be fatal. And yet, Drs. Ralph L. Fisher and Morris Jukerman of Detroit, who have recently studied 108 patients with this condition, believe that such attacks may sometimes be so slight that they are not diagnosed until some time after they occur. For this reason they conclude that coronary thrombosis is not necessarily a fatal disease

Among their 108 patients, the average age at the time of onset was 57½ years. The youngest patient was 37 and the oldest 84 The disorder seems to occur almost three times as often in men as in women. Of the 108 patients studied it was found that 49 or almost half were overweight About one out of six smoked excessively, but the use of alcoholic beverages seemed to have no effect on the coronary thrombosis. High blood pressure would appear to be a factor in the production of the disorder. Two out of three of the women studied had high blood pressure while four out of ten of the men had this condition.

Before an attack of coronary thrombosis occurs there are often warning signs which include pain or a feeling of tightness within the chest. There may also be a dull pain that passes into the left arm Some discomfort in the abdomen may accompany the chest symptoms, or it may occur alone

When the attack occurs there is usually an agonizing pain in the chest which is a burning, constricting or pressure sensation Sickness to the stomach and vomiting are also often present The pain may pass into the left arm neck abdomen or right arm The face is pale and the blood pressure drops within a few hours after the onset of the symptoms

In some cases the attack may occur without causing any symptoms at all Usually two to three days after the onset, fever develops and the temperature varies from 101 to 103 degrees When an attack occurs, of course, the patient should be put at complete rest. Most physicians administer morphine to relieve the pain and restlessness Another drug known as aminophylline may also be given by mouth A preparation known as quinidine is employed when the heart rate is very rapid If the heart is not properly supporting the circulation, digitalis is used.

It would appear that the outlook for the patient is better if he is not overweight, has not had previous attacks of coronary thrombosis and if the heart is not increased in size.

CLEVELAND MINISTER AT EPWORTH SCHOOL

Authority on Church Worship Seminar Speaker.

This week's session of the Epworth school for religion to be held at the Epworth Methodist church Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., will include an address by one of the outstanding authorities on Methodism, Dr. Oscar Thomas Olson, of Cleveland. He will talk on "Worship in the Church" at 8:15 following the preliminary seminar period which has been a regular feature of the school.

Dr. Olson began his ministry in Royal Oak, Mich., and since 1934 has served as pastor of the Epworth Euclid church, Cleveland.

He has specialized to a great extent in church organization and has served as secretary of the Communion on Rituals and Orders of Worship of the Methodist church. This communion, after unification of the three branches of the church, resulted in publication of "The Book of Worship" for the church in 1945.

This week's session will be the fourth in a series of five Wednesday nights for the School of Religion. Each session has been devoted to a seminar period and to an address by an outstanding leader in church and civic problems. All citizens of the community are invited to attend, it was announced.

Realtor Calls For Decontrol of Rent

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 12 Boyd T. Barnard of Philadelphia, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said yesterday his organization would seek decontrol of rents and at the same time oppose "unreasonable" rent increases.

Barnard told reporters in advance of the association's 39th annual convention, which opens here Wednesday, that "we want to see that tenants are not faced with hardship, skyrocketing rents, or harsh treatment by unscrupulous property owners."

"Realtors represent tenants as well as property owners," Barnard said. "With a demand for decontrol or residential rents, the National Association of Real Estate Boards will pledge its full efforts to prevent unreasonable rent rises."

STEEL STRIKE ENDS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12 — An eight-week strike involving 500 workers at the Steel Improvement and Forge Co. ended today following ratification by AFL blacksmiths and drop forgers of a settlement agreement. The agreement provides for a general wage increase conforming with the pattern for the forging industry and reflecting an 18½-cent hourly wage increase, retroactive to last June 1, said E. Wayne Patterson, international representative of the union.

PRIZE RAT CATCH

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Nov. 12—The newspaper Yomiuri reported today that Japanese sideshow operators, flourishing fat bankrolls, were shouldering each other aside in Gotemba, trying to buy the largest rat ever captured in Japan—three feet long. It displayed characteristics of a Chinese gutter rat, the paper said—without elaboration—and was captured in a textile plant where it "wreaked havoc."

Observing the Formalities

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S call for a political truce with a Republican-dominated congress during the next two years is what he thought the public wanted to hear.

It is what the politicians expected him to say. He has observed the formalities of the situation.

But, having observed the formalities, Mr. Truman on his part and the Republican majorities on their part will yield to the inevitable and obey the dictates of politics. They will do what must be done under a two-party system; they will compete for public favor and approval.

That is the way the United States accomplishes government. There is nothing wrong about it. When politicians talk about truces and unity in party politics, they are talking through their hats. When the public takes them at their word, the public is being naive—and worse. In the American pattern of politics, opposition is indispensable, and to believe otherwise is to be uninformed about the way government operates.

Mr. Truman as head of his party is obligated to do whatever he can do to popularize it with the electorate. Republican members of congress as representatives of the legislative majority are obligated to do whatever they can do to popularize their party with the electorate. Differences of opinion are bound to arise. The only conceivable way there could be a truce is for Mr. Truman or the Republicans to renege, and that is not likely.

Mr. Truman promises to cooperate "in every proper manner with the members of congress." He has not closed the door on opposition. Members of congress, of course, will cooperate "in every proper manner" with Mr. Truman, but they will retain the right, as he does, to judge what is a proper manner. This is the American method, and it has been a good one." There is no reason to be afraid of it because there has been a turn of the political tide which has left President Truman stranded in the White House with an opposition majority in congress.

Alabamy Bound

NOT the least interesting of election aftermaths is the certainty that the Democratic party, core of the defunct New Deal, will find its traditional refuge in the Solid South.

Even in adversity, the Democratic party can depend on the southern states to give it a warm refuge and a comfortable living. It can keep its southern bloc in congress and its hold on the federal patronage that is the prerogative of membership in congress.

During the high-riding days of the New Deal when brilliant young men from more progressive regions used to chide the Solid Southerners for their backwardness, this fundamental circumstance of Democracy's existence used to be pointed out with considerable heat. It made no impression on the brilliant young men who, being young, had not lived long enough to realize in politics, as in war, the best strategy always provides a means of falling back.

The Democratic party is by no means routed from the North, the East and West, nor is it likely to be, but figuratively it once more is Alabamy bound. No matter how tough things may become elsewhere, the one-party system in the southern states gives the Democratic party what the Republican party never has had, except in Maine—a ready refuge when every hand seems to be turned against it.

If We Could Be Half As Sure

SENATOR VANDENBERG'S post-election assurance to the United Nations that a Republican congress would make no difference in American foreign policy was a nice diplomatic gesture. But under the circumstances it hardly seemed necessary. Any foreign government wanting to be reassured against a sudden change of direction in United States policy hasn't been keeping track of current events.

The only Americans worrying about reversing the foreign policy of their government any more are the handful trying to do it. It isn't easy to decide how the United States became burdened with a reputation for retreating into isolation, in view of the fact it has been the most consistent interventionist nation in the world throughout the 20th century, but even the reputation isn't being taken seriously any more.

If the United States could be half as sure of the position of its neighbors in foreign policy affairs as they can be of its position under the circumstances, there would be at least twice as much certainty in procedure as there is now. Perhaps Senator Vandenberg's assurance that Republicans and Democrats see eye to eye on foreign policy may be echoed by assurance from Britain and Russia that their divergent political elements see likewise.

News Behind the News

Election Recriminations Not Best for Nation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Sharp accusations and somewhat bitter chiding have been noticeable in the comment after the elections. There is no need to quote illustrations which have been broadcast far and wide, or to mention the backhand remarks which have been commonly made when public comment was avoided.

Such exchanges are wholly unmindful of the critical state of affairs in which the nation is involved. Ordinarily I do not step out of columnar character in which I present the News Behind the News, in one way or another, but this situation calls for purely personal comment.

Frankly it appears to me some familiar international forces and domestic influences, which do not seem aware of conditions, are seeking to take an advantage out of the election results against the best interests of the country.

I personally believe it would be silly for anyone to seek to induce the nation to coalesce together on all points of issue into one happy family. That would be Utopia. I have read about it, but I have never seen it. People are human beings with natural selfish instincts for themselves and perhaps for their class groups. But this is an atomic era. The destructive possibilities of international war are recognized as great, but the possibilities of a domestic economic warfare are just as great.

Atomic Era

We are not only in the atomic era of an exclusively scientific atom bomb, but we are in an economic era of potentialities for destruction as great as might be effected from military weapons. In an era like that human beings do not talk and act wildly and pugnaciously brandish about their own selfish desires to the exclusion of the best interests of the people as a whole. If there lies within our economic situation the possibility of explosion it would be suicidal for any class group to attempt to hasten such a development. It would be against their own best interest to carry these comments and talk you have heard, into action.

Obviously in such times, people must strive as never before to move soberly and reasonably. Selfish interests can be curbed by a general popular power in democracy or a general appreciation of knowing cooperation for the greater good for the greater number of people. We can have considerable unity, insist upon it and maintain it. We already have achieved it on foreign policy, or I must correct myself and say I thought we had achieved it until some outbreaks in the campaign, even up until an event I will not mention on the closing day, indicated an opposite trend in certain high Democratic quarters. (Yes I mean Barkley.) We have it in reality. There is no need losing it just for the stupid desire of a few politicians to hear themselves talk. At least that original unity can be restored and made solid. Indeed it is still functioning in international affairs.

Domestic Cooperation

Domestically it remains to be seen how much non-political cooperation can be developed in this time of crisis. I have heard from friends a suggestion even that our enormous influence for good in the world might be lost in domestic economic disruptions and strife, and it is true that we can so weaken ourselves that we could breakdown our own power. One international philosopher whom I greatly respect, has actually suggested Communism will naturally follow bankruptcy everywhere (Santayana is getting a little old))

Personally I do not believe this mourning. What we need is the dominant will to make what we have work well. No problems are insurmountable. As we have achieved advances in science, we can achieve advances in politics, economics and other pressing matters. What we need is the will to do it.

You cannot obliterate loose talk in a democracy, but you can certainly recognize it as coming from loose people. You cannot prevent actions which might have a harmful effect economically and internationally but you can stop them from becoming important. You cannot suppress selfish interests because they spring from instincts in the human individual, but you can elevate a wise leadership over a knowing people. That is what a democracy is for. That is another reason why it is better than a totalitarian state. It has the natural strength of defense in depth, rather than static defense as the military men say. The individual freedom of the human being runs down to the last man and it must be maintained constantly and defended against attacks which will be constantly preying upon its weaknesses.

Will Inflation Succeed Where C. Nation Failed?

Ample quantity of bonded whisky is promised in time for the Christmas trade, but at prices ranging from $10 to $12 dollars a fifth.

Already there are evidences of the approach of the Yuletide, when spirits are traditionally high.

OPA took whisky from under the ceilings and Joe on the Corner took it from under the counter. Moreover, a new run is on the way, made by an exclusive new process, ferm-inflation.

Thus, in the months ahead, a citizen may find it easier to raise a thirst than the price of quenching it.

Indeed, now that the cost as well as the contents are staggering, the population may shortly be divided into two categories the rich and the sober.

Soon, I mean, if whisky keeps going up, the nation's drinkers will fall into but one classification Alcoholics Affluent

A Look at the Economic Future

By RAYMOND MOLEY

SINCE the election of a Republican congress marks the substantial end of a political era, it is a good time to appraise the consequences in economics, as well as in political affairs. The committees of the senate and house, with their enormous power over economic life, will have Republican chairmen and Republican majorities. In the main, the chairmen will come from that part of the country which stretches from Nebraska to Maine. As far as can be determined now, they will be men of moderately conservative views. This probably means a policy of financial retrenchment. It also means that the power of organized labor over legislation will be materially curtailed.

Stability Ahead

If the past is any indication of the future, we shall move into an era of more stability in our economic life. What happens at certain recurrent intervals in political history is that, due to the expansion of the country or the rise of new technological processes or the growth of certain economic groups, a struggle for power on sectional or group lines overturns the normal economic balance. This struggle goes on until a new balance is achieved, and then what may be called a reign of law prevails. This does not mean law in the technical sense, but in the broader sense of rough agreement on conditions and relationships, under which sections and groups deal with one another.

The era of the New Deal was marked by a big increase in the power of labor. It was also marked by the increase of the political and economic power of cities over rural areas. Legislation for a number of years favored labor and other groups whom President Roosevelt called the "underprivileged." It was inevitable that resistance to the gains of these groups would finally bring things to a relative impasse.

Labor View

It is probable that labor leaders—with evidence now before them of a less sympathetic congress, with a considerable body of "gains" already achieved and with the revelation of the weakness of the PAC in this election—will find it harder to promote strikes. For it is clear that a great number of union members joined the protest vote. There will, of course, be plenty of tall talk by leaders. That is what their position seems to require. But the force of their demands will be limited by the attitude of their followers and by their loss of support in Congress.

A regime which seems to be approaching the end always presents a sad picture. The administration in the next two years will be limited by congress and constantly haunted by the threat of doom at the next presidential election. It will be increasingly difficult for the president to draw first-rate men into public office. In periods like 1919-20 and 1931-32, people for the most part accepted appointments in Washington as temporary, leave-of-absence affairs. Now, nearly everyone in Washington is trying to find employment elsewhere. The net result is stagnation and paralysis. No programs are developed, and little initiative is left in the executive.

All this may well be succeeded by the growth of healthy and stable conditions. Ultimately, after immediate uncertainties are passed, more productivity, prosperity and stability may be expected.

Regain War Loot

By The Associated Press

AMSTERDAM — Almost half of the machinery taken from the Netherlands by Germans during the war has been brought back, according to L. F. Otto, Dutch commissioner-general in Germany.

He said that this figure does not take into account vast amounts of equipment that was destroyed in Germany, but refers to that which still remained intact when the war ended.

Of 464 railway locomotives taken from Holland, 405 have been returned, Otto said, as well as all of the 301 street cars which the Nazis' seized as booty. Twenty per cent of all stolen art objects, representing 70 per cent of the artistic value, have also been retrieved by Holland.

Solution To Stalemate

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE trouble with Senator Fulbright's suggestion that President Truman resign is, as many have already pointed out, that it would enable Mr. Truman to by-pass primaries, nominating conventions elections, and to appoint the next president of the United States. No Republican could afford to accept the presidency on those terms. Nor is there any chance that the senate would confirm the appointment of Mr. Truman's nominee.

But this does not dispose of the problem to which Senator Fulbright was addressing himself. The problem remains, and if Senator Fulbright has given the wrong answer, he has, nevertheless, asked the right question. Two very serious defects in our political system have, through no particular fault of Mr. Truman, been sharply revealed.

For more than two years the action of government will be subject to the constant danger of stalemate and destructive conflict. Moreover, in case Mr. Truman were unable to finish his term, his successors would be, first, Secretary of State Byrnes and then Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, neither of whom has ever been nominated for president.

That Byrnes has the qualifications of a good president is, I believe, true. But he would have no mandate from the people or even his party. At best he would, therefore, be a caretaker until a president could be elected.

Hold To Rigid Custom

The two problems, that of the succession and that of the midterm stalemate, both arise, I submit, from the same difficulty—that we are accustomed to the idea that a presidential election can be held only once in every four years. Both problems would be settled if it were deemed possible to hold intermediate elections for president and vice- president without waiting until the four-year term ended.

It is quite plain that the authors of the Constitution thought there should be elections a few months after the offices of president and vice president had become vacant. It is quite plain, also, that they thought the president might not only die, or become disabled, or be removed by impeachment, but that he might resign. And whenever any of these things happened, they there was no vice president, they expected the country to have new elections—if possible within the same calendar year.

All this is set down in an act which originated in the First Congress, was passed by the Second Congress on Feb. 21, 1792, and approved by President Washington March 1, 1792. This was the law of the land for 94 years, until 1886, when Congress replaced it by the Presidential Succession Act which is now in force. Congress could, of course, re-enact, with appropriate alterations to conform with the Twentieth(Norris) Amendment, and with other suitable changes, the law of 1792.

This law, and the debates which preceded it, were the work of the men who wrote the Constitution and founded the government. They reveal certain basic principles which today may at first seem novel, and even startling.

One is that the founding fathers thought it quite likely that occasionally a president would resign. A second is that they thought the country should never for more than a few months have a president who had not been elected.

They did not believe as we now assume that there could never be a presidential election except once in every four years. They supposed that when the country needed a president the country should proceed to elect one.

Thus as the men of the First and Second Congresses and the first president saw it, as the country saw it for 94 years afterwards, Mr. Truman could, if it were advisable, resign some time in the near future, and a new president could be elected in 1947 instead of waiting for 1948

The act of 1792 gives no support to those who now think that a president who decided to resign would be a quitter and coward. George Washington, who was not a quitter or a coward, approved the act which tells how a president may resign.

Section 11 says that "the only evidence * * * of a resignation * * * of the office of president shall be an instrument in writing declaring the same, and subscribed to by the person * * * resigning * * * and delivered into the office of the secretary of state."

We do not have a record of the debates in the senate where the act of 1792 originated. But we do have a summary of the debate in the house. It is clear from the record that all were agreed that if the office of president became vacant through death, disability, impeachment, or resignation, there should be a new election.

It is also clear that until there was an election, they expected someone, not to be president, but "to act as president until the disability be removed or a president shall be elevated."

The senate and the house disagreed as to who should be the temporary acting president. The house preferred to have the secretary of state be the caretaker until the special election. The senate insisted that "the president of the senate pro tempore, and in case there shall be no president of the senate, then the speaker of the house of representatives, for the time being, shall act as president of the United States."

The house receded, and accepted the senate's view. Both were agreed, however, that no one who had not been elected should be more than temporary caretaker, an acting president. They rejected the idea that anyone should be president by appointment, as would be the case if Byrnes succeeded Mr. Truman, or by vote of a majority of one of

Number Please

By TRUMAN TWILL

Alexander Graham Bell and his successors in the telephone business never would have declared their first dividend if their useful gadget hadn't fallen into the hands of useless people.

It's the useless people who keep the telephone lines humming and the tolls rolling in—housewives with nothing to say, but a half hour to kill, male and female gossips, kids calling each other to ask what pages the geography lesson for tomorrow is on, and parties who get into wrong-number mixups.

We were in a wrong-number mixup yesterday. "Hello," we said, after getting up from the couch and walking to the telephone. "Hello," was the reply, a lady speaking. "Whatcha doin'?" "Lying down," we said, always truthful. "Why?" she asked. "Tired," we explained. "Why?" she asked. "Who is this?" we asked. "This is the party you was talkin' to downtown yesterday," she said, in a hurt tone. "You must have the wrong number," we said in confusion, hanging up. We hadn't been downtown yesterday. The phone kept ringing at two minute intervals for a long time—maybe 10 minutes. See. She cared.

But that's the telephone for you. A man called us at 3 a. m. once, had our name right, telephone number right, even the correct street address, and wanted to know where a truckload of groceries should be delivered because weren't we the manager of an Atantic & Pacific Tea Co store? With some faster thinking that night we could have licked the high cost of living for five years.

A real estate agency with a similar number has every reason to be grateful to the Twill household, whose members all aim to be pleasant to fumblewits who get mixed up and want to buy dream houses cheap. Some of the greatest bargains in history have been lined up this way and it was too bad they never had been heard of the next morning when it was time to close the deal.

Without telephones nine out of ten interruptions that now are commonplace couldn't happen. More than half of all questions would go unasked. But there'd be a lot less fun, too, because they rent telephones to hospital patients these days and today we had a talk with one, on the patient's initiative. For the first time, we weren't ill at ease in the presence of suffering, because this time the visit was the patient's idea.

We probably will put in a couple of calls ourselves tonight to people who might like to know we're alive and kicking. We may call a few numbers at random and ask for George, too. There's nearly always a George somewhere, usually in the bathtub, or temporarily absent. Have him call when he gets home—any time before 2 a. m.

Maybe we'll just pick a number and if a lady answers we'll ask, "Whatcha doin'?" and see what it leads to. In our case it led to some thinking about the marvelous thing called the telephone. Once upon a time an individual's privacy couldn't be invaded for a nickel. If you wanted to know what someone was doin' you had to walk where he was. Living must have been a dull proposition, a very dull proposition. No mystery at all.

Now he lives in that mental "lost world" into which many a veteran has retreated—men who spent so much courage in war they have none left to face the quieter personal battles of peace.

Recalls First Fight.

Three years ago today he was in North Africa, glad because the French had just signed an armistice with the Allies. That gave him a break after three days' fighting.

"I thought I was a real veteran," he said tonelessly. "If I had known what was ahead—"

Then came winter fighting in Tunisia, and summer fighting in Sicily, more training in England and then long summer and longer winter fighting from Normandy to Germany. Friends left lying on dusty roads, friends dying in rainy gullies and snow-covered fields—but for him the "million dollar wound," the wound that cripples but sends you home, came only at the very end.

"I got so tired I just walked around standing up hoping I'd get it," he said. "You know what I call guys who just got it in Normandy? Newcomers! The green ones used to come up and ask how long I'd been with the outfit. They felt better when I said, 'all the way.' They felt if one guy had made it they might, too."

Blonde Gives Brushoff

A blonde came in and said "Hello" to him, but when he started toward her she eased quickly past him to the end of the bar.

"I got hit three times," he said, looking after her moodily. "Once a rifle and a couple times mortars.

"The last one finished me. I spent five months in a hospital blind. Finally I got one eye back. I got mixed up in the hospital. My memory's all mixed up.

"When I came back to my home town nobody gave a damn about me. Just another guy that wore a uniform. And I kept running into jerks my age that never went overseas.

Can't Stick at Anything

"I came here then. I've tried several things, but I can't stick at them. Silly people giving you silly things to do. And I get mad when I see all the people living fat and easy around me and think about all the nights I spent in foxholes."

But he likes the barrooms, because there is a kind of rising excitement in the clinking glasses and girls laughing and people talking loud and friendly. A government pension enables him to spend more evenings at the bar than he should.

"I oughtn't to be here," he said. "I ought to be doing something, but I don't know a thing I want to do. There's something wrong with me. I know I'm the one that's out of step."

He set his drink down and said: "But you know there's one thing I ain't sorry for. I'm damn glad I carried a rifle, and I carried it all the way."

PILES
ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

THE FIRST of a number of pre-nuptial parties for Miss Joan Austin, a bride-elect of Saturday, was given Saturday evening when Mrs. Clifton Phelps of Fremont, Mrs. Charles Forrey and Mrs. L. L. Phelps entertained with a bridge and a bathroom shower at the home of Mrs. L. L. Phelps on Pearl street. Awards in bridge were won by Mrs. John L. Austin and Mrs. J. Steinman. A lime and antique rose covered bath hamper, presented Miss Austin by the hostesses, held the shower gifts, and the same colors, which Miss Austin had chosen for her wedding, predominated in the table appointments for refreshments. WHY
A SOAP SHORTAGE?

You've Heard Rumors. Here Are the Facts!

1. There is a world-wide shortage of animal fats and of vegetable oils. This shortage affects all of us. For instance, this year soapmakers have been able to obtain only one fifth of the imported oils they used in 1941—far less domestic fats, too.

2. Because of the world-wide shortage, manufacturers are unable to get the amount of fats and oils they need to make not only soaps, but also paints, textiles, tires, leather goods, floor coverings, electrical appliances, etc.

3. In the face of these conditions, American soap manufacturers have done their utmost. They have turned all the fats and oils they have been able to obtain into soap just as quickly as possible.

4. But for the help of American housewives, the shortage of soap would have been far more serious. Last year, more than one out of every nine packages of soap sold was made from used fats saved in America's kitchens.

5. Don't blame your grocer. He is doing his best, like the soapmakers, to get more soap for you. Won't you do your best by saving and turning in every drop of used fats.

Closed Shop To Face Test

Congress, Supreme Court To Weigh Issue in Showdown Fight.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — The closed shop — one of the sorest of all union problems—is headed for a showdown in congress and the U. S. supreme court.

Senator Joseph Ball, Minnesota Republican, says he will try to get the new Republican controlled congress to pass a law outlawing the closed shop

And the voters of five states—Florida, Arkansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Arizona—have now approved amendments to their state constitutions doing just that

If congress passes such a law the unions certainly will fight it through the courts, going up to the U. S. supreme court, if necessary

The unions already have started their fight against the state amendments and will go on up to the supreme court if they have to

A closed shop is one in which every employe must be a member of the union which has a contract with the employer there If he isn't, he can't work there

Closed shops are not new in this country. They date back at least to 1790 when union of carpenters and tailors bargained with their employers not only for higher wages but for closed shops, too

Congress itself—in the national labor relations act (the Wagner act) which it passed in 1935—said an employer could make a closed shop agreement with a union

The voters of Florida and Arkansas—on Nov 7, 1944—and the voters of Nebraska, South Dakota and Arizona—on Nov. 5 1946 — approved the amendments to their state constitutions forbidding closed shops

Soon after the Florida amendment was approved, the AFL and CIO went to bat against it They took it to the federal district court in Florida. That court upheld it Then they appealed to the U S supreme court

The supreme court—in its opinion of March 22 1946—declined to give a decision It said the test should have been made in the first place in a state court, not in a federal court

So now the AFL is carrying its fight through the Florida state courts.

COOPERATION

Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) said the test of full Republican cooperation with the President on this score will come when treaties are placed before the senate.

Many Democrats thought Mr. Truman's statement indicated he is turning away from the course "a little left of center" he previously had marked out for himself and would mollify some of the elements in his own party, as well as the Republicans, with fewer New Deal type proposals.

Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece gave an indication of Republican thinking on this score when he asserted, in commenting on the President's truce statement, that the "mandate" of Tuesday's election "is binding not only upon those candidates elected to the senate and house on Nov. 5 but also upon all other officials of the federal government."

Mr. Truman noted pointedly in his statement, however, that while the Repulicans hold congress "the duties and the responsibilities of the Chief Executive and of the executive branch of the government are entrusted to me and my associates."

JAP REPARATIONS MEETING SCHEDULED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — Edwin W. Pauley said today that the United States had invited all nations claiming Japanese reparations to a conference in Washington early in December.

Pauley, who is President Truman's reparations representative, told reporters after calling on the President that all claimant nations except Russia had indicated a desire to be represented at the conference.

Pauley added, however, that "we will proceed even without Soviet acceptance."

He said the United States was "very anxious" to begin movement of Japanese factories to claimant nations. As one example, Pauley said the Philippine government is claiming more than $100,000,000 worth of Japanese plants.

Asked whether Russia had been slow in accepting this country's invitation to a conference because of Soviet removal of Manchurian factories, Pauley replied:

"That is one condition."

Pauley indicated that the Russians did not want the Manchurian factory matter on the conference agenda.

He added that delays in settling reparations had "injured millions of people who have been unable to rehabilitate themselves" because of lack of factory facilities.

oils—had increased from nine cents a pound under OPA to 21 or 22 cents a pound.

Other trade sources said price increases were inevitable.

"There has to be a sharp increase in the cost of the finished product," one industry spokesman said. "Prices of fats have more than doubled since their decontrol recently and the industry has no inventory of low-priced materials."

Stating that tallow prices have risen from a ceiling of 8⅝ cents to as high as 22 cents, he said fats and oils account for at least 50 per cent of the total cost of soap.

Besides that soap makers are faced with higher prices for containers and wrappers, transportation, equipment and labor, he added.

LEADERSHIP WORRIES BESET BOTH PARTIES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Leadership worries beset house Republicans and Democrats alike today.

With two candidates already in the field and a third in the offing, G.O.P. leaders arriving early for a steering committee meeting Thursday began scouting around for compromise possibilities in the fight for the coveted post of Republican floor leader.

Reps. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Thomas Jenkins of Ohio formally tossed their hats into the ring for the assignment yesterday. Friends of Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio said they expect his formal announcement momentarily.

Halleck's announcement followed a meeting of party heads, including Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts. Martin is unopposed in his party for election as speaker of the house, and the elevation will leave vacant his present position as Republican floor leader.

While there was no sign of an imminent compromise in the 3-way contest, party chiefs said they were hopeful it could be settled without a serious rift that might divide G.O.P. ranks when they organize the house next Jan. 3.

Unless all candidates except one withdraw, a party caucus will make the selection, probably late next month. Its choice will be submitted to the house proper for formal ratification by the Republican majority.

The possibility of a fight over the Democratic, or minority, leadership developed when it was learned that a group of southerners are seeking to persuade Rep. Eugene E. Cox of Georgia to seek the post.

Normally Sam Rayburn of Texas, now speaker in the Democratic-controlled house, would step down into the minority leadership. But Rayburn has announced a desire to be freed of the chore and let the toga fall upon the shoulders of Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, now Democratic floor leader.

GM CARS GET $100 INCREASE

Other Manufacturers Biding Time To Study New Moves.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Mich., Nov 12 — The price tag on General Motors passenger cars and trucks was higher by $100 today while Ford and Chrysler other members of the automotive industry's "Big Three," marked time on possible action following the removal of OPA controls

C. E. Wilson GM president announced the increases yesterday and said they would be effective immediately He said the corporation had an application for such an increase on file with the OPA for several months" and pointed out the boost placed GM prices in reasonable relationship" to costs of production

Wilson also announced:

Adjustments in the prices of certain household appliances will be announced later by the Frigidaire and Delco appliance divisions: no general increases on automotive parts will be made at this time (OPA recently authorized increases up to 15 per cent on automotive parts), no general increase is contemplated on Diesel-electric locomotives or other Diesel engines.

Earlier, the Ford Motor Co. said no immediate price increase was contemplated.

In a letter distributed today to Ford suppliers, Albert J. Browning vice president, director of purchases, said some prices on certain repair parts will be adjusted because of "serious inequalities in the former OPA prices"

There was no comment from Chrysler Corp

George W Mason, president of the Nash-Kelvinator Corp., said the company's main interest "is to keep prices as low as possible." He added:

"Further prices on Nash cars and Kelvinator electric appliances will depend as always upon our labor and materials costs and our volume of production."

W A MacDonald, vice president in charge of sales of the Kaiser-Frazer Corp said that unless prices of materials went up there would be "no increase in prices of cars"

George T Christopher, president of the Packard Motor Car Co., said in a statement

"With restrictions removed and production again depending upon our own ability to acquire materials, our confidence in the future is sufficient to justify our consideration of present prices remaining in effect"

In Cincinnati an increase of $100 in the retail price of the 1947 Crosley automobile was announced by Powel Crosley Jr., president of Crosley Motors, Inc He said it was "necessary because of increased costs since orginial pricing"

GI'S WIFE, JILTED SUITOR, FOUND DEAD

By The Associated Press

MT HOLLY, N J, Nov 12—A soldier's wife and the ex-convict suitor she jilted were found slain in a swamp area of the Lebanon State Forest woodlands yesterday, 45 days after she was kidnaped at gunpoint from the bedside of her husband

A Navy blimp, with FBI and state police aboard, spotted the bodies and by radio contact with searchers on land led them to the scene—about 400 yards from the automobile abandoned by the kidnaper ex-convict Chalmers Laubaugh.

Wife of Sergeant

The woman, Mrs Mary Pyle Kimmey, 26-year-old wife of Sgt Glynn F Kimmey of the U S Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth N J wore a red black and yellow plaid skirt and red coat

It was the same clothing she hastily had donned the early morning of Sept 27 when Chalmers Laubaugh, 35-year-old parolee from a prison near Washington, D C, entered her bedroom and at gunpoint forced her to leave her husband's side and drive off with him

A 45 caliber revolver with two exploded cartridges were found near the bodies A state police sergeant at the scene said there were holes in both the man's and the woman's head The bodies were taken to a morgue in Toms River

The two evidently had debated their fate for some time, Capt Coughlin said, as empty packs of cigarets were found near the bodies and the earth was littered with cigaret stubs

STADIUM DARK AS PREXIES END YEAR AT SPRINGFIELD

Tilt Friday Night Holds Local Football Limelight Monopoly

By GEORGE ROEST

After eight consecutive hectic Friday nights in which the voices of enthused fans rented the air the Harding stadium will remain in darkness this Friday night. Harding is going to Springfield to cap their season and St. Mary wound things up last Friday night against Mt. Gilead.

All of the teams in the district and the county have wound up their schedule and the Prexey-Springfield tilt will hold the lone limelight as the game of the week Friday night.

Friday night will see the Prexies going up against terrific odds in trying to gain at least one victory this season. The dormant power in the squad has still not evidenced itself to the point where they finished out front this season.

Played Memorable Game.

A memorable game was the second of the season in which they held Columbus Linden McKinley to a 0 to 0 tie. Linden went on to win the city championship and become one of the top teams in the state. So far this season the Harding team has been able to do much better when the chips were down and for Friday night they won't be given much chance in pre-game ratings.

In the district everything is wound up and soon the schools will open their basketball season. Carey by deadlocking with Upper Sandusky Friday night became the only undefeated club in this area, although tied twice.

Shelby Wins N. O. Loop.

Shelby was the winner in the Northern Ohio league having beaten all of its opponents except Upper and placing first with six wins and a tie. Upper, last year's champs, came in just under the wire having at the start of the season dropped one to Norwalk. Their final showing was five wins, one loss and a tie. Norwalk in third place had five wins and two losses. Bucyrus and Shelby are the teams who were able to down Norwalk. Bucyrus finished their season tied for fourth place with Crestline with three wins and four defeats. This was described by the Bucyrus Telegraph-Forum as the most successful season for the Redmen in six years.

Galion Ties Ashland.

Galion gained fifth place and a degree of fame by tieing Ashland last week end. Ashland had previously romped over the league leading Shelby 18 to 0. The Galion record in the league was two wins, four losses and a tie. Willard finished in sixth place with a record of one, five and one, while Bellvue ended at the bottom of the heap with one victory out of seven league games.

In the Mid-State league the standings were shaken up for the final time last week end, Mt. Gilead being dropped from a second place tie to fourth place, Richwood gaining undisputed possession of second place and St. Mary remaining in third place. Sunbury without a win stayed in the cellar.

Marion Couple Win Kenton Cycle Race

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Messenger of Marion were the winners of the motor cycle turkey run held by state motor cyclers at Kenton Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Short also of Marion finished in third place. There were 14 riders from Marion entered in the event.

The Triangle Hecklers held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Hlen Short last Friday night and nine members were present . It was decided to purchase silverware and electric hot plates for the new club house. The next regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Helen and the Triangle Motor Cycle club will be held at the club house Nov. 22.

A turkey run starting at the club house will be held Nov. 24 and members are requested to bring four sandwiches and a hot dish for a pot luck supper.

New Cage Loop Likely To Produce Good Race

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 — Although the season is barely under way, a wide open scrap for championship honors in the Basketball Association of America was in prospect today with only two of the 11 teams in the new professional circuit still on the unbeaten list.

The Chicago Stags spoiled the home debut of the New York Knickerbockers by taking a 78-68 overtime decision last night before 17,205 fans in Madison Square Garden.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Ironmen chalked up their first success in five starts, an 84-71 triumph over the previously unbeaten Providence Steamrollers before a crowd of only 1,500 in Pittsburgh.

This left Philadelphia and Cleveland as the only undefeated outfits, with just 20 games having been played.

New Faces To Appear In Wrestling Matches

Several new faces will appear at the wrestling matches in the Armory Thursday night. Steve Nenoff, the Bulgarian - born grappler will meet Al Seasz of St. Louis in one of the 90-minute main goes.

The other feature will be a match between Buz Jones of Columbus, wrestling for his first time in Marion and Ken Larson of Hamilton, Ontario.

A preliminary between two local boys has been arranged for the opener at 7:30.

Miami Gridders Take 8th Loss in 9 Games

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 12 — The Miami Seahawks of the All America professional football league absorbed their eighth loss in nine games last night with a 20-7 licking at the hands of the Chicago Rockets in the Orange Bowl stadium before 7,138 paying customers.

The Chicagoans, presenting a rugged line scored two touchdowns and two field goals, and turned back all but one Seahawk thrust.

After 13 minutes of play the visitors scored when Bill Kellagher rammed over from the one. Steven Nemeth kicked a field goal to make it 10-0 and Kellagher raced 53 yards for another touchdown. Nemeth added another field goal to complete the Rockets' scoring.

The Seahawks tallied midway in the third period when Marion Pugh tossed to Hubert Ulrich for 30 yards and a touchdown.

SUGGESTS GRID CHANGE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12 — Bert Bell, National Football league commissioner, suggests that gridiron rules be amended so that "when a placement is blocked on an attempted conversion, the ball automatically should be dead." Bell called attention to a wild melee in Saturday's Temple-Penn State football game in which an official picked up the loose pigskin after a blocked conversion try. He threw it down hurriedly as players from both teams descended on him.

O.S.U. BEGINS QUEST FOR NEW HALFBACK

Krall Out; Tommy Phillips May Get Chance.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12 — Coach Paul Bixler began his quest today for a replacement for Jerry Krall, injured reserve left halfback, for Saturday's game with Illinois.

Dr. Jim Foley, Buck physician, said it was doubtful whether Krall's knee would mend sufficiently by Saturday.

Tommy Phillips, with 25 minutes play at Ohio State, was mentioned as a possibility. It would be the fourth time this year the Berea sophomore changed positions in an effort to make the Buck lineup.

Touchdown Tommy, who was the most sought after Ohio high school gridder in 1941, started at left half, was shifted to quarterback, back to left half, back to quarter, and now back again to left half.

Freshman Rod Swinehart of Wooster, with 18 minutes of college gridiron experience, is another hopeful to supplant Krall, injured in last week's Pittsburgh game. Swinehart's bid is backed by his participation in seven games this season, falling seven minutes short of Phillips' playing time which could provide the deciding factor in his selection

Bixler said he also would try Mike Cannavino, listed as a quarterback, in the left-half vacancy.

The Buck mentor told newsmen yesterday that the conference leading Illinois had a reputation for speed, good throwing and plenty of depth. Illinois leads the Big Nine with four victories and a defeat with two games to go. Michigan is next with three wins, one defeat and a tie. Ohio State is third with a 2-1-1 rating. The Wolverines, like the Bucks, have two games to play.

Cabbies Book Mendon Grid 11 In Tilt At Stadium Tomorrow

A strong experienced semi-pro football team has been booked to meet the Safety Cab A.C. club Wednesday night at Harding stadium. The club, which has a host of players with plenty of football experience, is the Mendon semi-pros who play all their home games at Celina, Ohio.

There have been no practices this week so far and players are asked to be at the stadium tomorrow at 7 p. m. so that a short skull session can be held.

During the past two weeks an offensive attack has been emphasized in Cabbie practices and they will be out to show how much they have improved when they come up against the Mendon club.

The Cabbies chances in the game tomorrow night have been blighted somewhat by the fact their captain, Martin Lewis, may not be with them. This stellar guard will not be able to play because of conflict with his employment.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Nov. 12—That slight discussion of baseball ethics (meaning "don't rob me and I won't rob you") which surrounded the drafting of Jack (Lucky) Lehrke by the Giants, isn't the only event of that sort in baseball this year.. Brooklyn for instance failed to pick up a couple of best players on its Newport News farm club and the Cubs, with whom Portsmouth's Piedmont league club is affiliated, grabbed off one of them. Minor league officials hereabouts say there's plenty of the same sort of business going on because there are so many good players that some are bound to be overlooked .. Hottest report in Southern conference circles is that Maryland will pay off Clark Shaughnessy for the remainder of his five-year contract and look for another football coach.. . The story is that Frank Dobson, former Maryland tutor, already has turned down the job.

One Minute Sports Page

Several Southern conference grid coaches are questioning the legality of the shift Carl Snavely is using at North Carolina, U., claiming it violates the rule which says no such play may be designed to draw the opposing team offside. Wonder what there is in the story that Jorge Pasquel, the Mexican league boss, has been trying to get Davey Banks to organize an "Original Celtics" basketball team to tour Mexico this winter. Davey, you may have noticed, wasn't included when the real Celtics were reassembled for an exhibition last night ...William and Mary college, which is plugging Knox Ramsey for All-America guard with the claim that he's even better than his brother Buster, is due to come up with one of the season's top basketballers in Johnny Jorgenson, who used to feed George Mikan at DePaul.

One-Arm Gridder Asks No Quarter

NORTHWESTERN GUNS FOR NOTRE DAME

Hope To Catch Irish in Letdown After Army.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 — Hoping to catch Notre Dame "down" after its scoreless battle with Army, Northwestern will try to repeat a feat against the Irish Saturday that it accomplished 11 years ago —knock the Irish out of national championship honors.

The "Shillelagh Club" series between the Western conference school — which has lost its last two games while thinking ahead to the "big one"—and Notre Dame began in 1889 and is one of the oldest in midwestern football. The two rivals will square off before a capacity throng of 60,000 at South Bend in the 26th game of their long feud and one which has been sold out for months.

The perpetual souvenir of the traditional encounter is a gnarled club, an Irish shillelagh, which has escaped Notre Dame's possession only three times as a result of three Northwestern victories in 25 attempts.

In 1935 a highly-favored undefeated Notre Dame team, enroute to the mythical national collegiate crown, was upset 14-7 by the thrice-beaten Wildcats. Only once have the two rivals met with both having unbeaten records. That was in 1930 when Marchy Schwartz zoomed 27 yards for a touchdown to help the Irish win 14-0.

Northwestern — which considers a victory over the Irish next only to a Big Nine title—last gained a win in 1940 as the former Chicago prep star, Bill De Correvont, spearheaded a 20-0 shutout, most conclusive triumph for the Wildcats in the series. Last year Notre Dame won 34-7.

Rochester Cagers Open Beating Youngstown

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 12—Rochester's Royals humbled the Youngstown Bears 63 to 49 last night in the season opener for the two National Basketball league (pro) teams before 2,500 fans.

The Royals broke away to an early score, holding a 21-9 superiority at the end of the first period and leading 36-17 at the half.

Individual scoring honors went to Andy Levane, Royals guard with seven field goals, and Al Cervi, Rochester guard, with 13 points including six fielders and a free throw.

Big Nine Grid Teams Prep For Strenuous Duty This Weekend

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 12—Notes from the Big Nine football camps:

Northwestern — Coach Lynn Wadorlf waived the usual Monday respite from practice yesterday and stressed passing as the Wildcats began preparations at full strength for their game with Notre Dame Saturday.

Michigan—Coach Fritz Crisler scheduled a heavy scrimmage session today with emphasis on blocking and tackling as he drilled his Wolverines for Wisconsin.

Wisconsin—Don Kindt, Clarence Esser, Dick Loepfe and Dale Bowers were off the cripple list today . . . Tackle Don Lee and guard Don Krauff, who have missed the last two games, also are expected to be fit for Saturday's 20th encounter in the Michigan series.

Illinios — Quarterback Perry Moss, who suffered a recurrence of an old knee injury last week, will be able to play against Ohio State Saturday when the Illini attempt to protect their big Nine title chances . . . Benefited by an open date Saturday were Capt. Mac Wenskunas, Ike Owens, Tommy Stewart and Ray Florek, all of whom were nursing minor injuries.

Ohio State—Jerry Krall, the Buckeyes' speedy halfback, may miss the Illinois test with a twisted knee suffered in Ohio State's 20-13 win over Pitt . . . Tommy Phillips, one of Ohio's most widely publicized prep players before the war may get a chance at stardom by moving to Krall's role.

Iowa—The Hawkeyes, drilling on passing and defense, got ready to end their season Saturday against Minnesota . . . They haven't beaten the Gophers at Minneapolis since 1921.

Minnesota—The Gophers were given a day of rest yesterday but got down to serious rehearsals today to protect a record of never having been beaten by Iowa in Memorial stadium."

Purdue—A back injury by left halfback Kenneth Smock in the Minnesota game has revealed a fracture of a vertebrae sidelining him for the season . . . The injury-riddled Boilerbakers who close the season against Indiana in LaFayette Nov. 23 following an open date this week end were granted two days layoff from drills

Inidana—Coming out of the Northwestern game without serious injury, Indiana was given yesterday off before resuming practices for the Old Oaken Bucket battle with Purdue The Hoosiers also will be idle Saturday

Mythical Ohio Schooboy Football Title Is Tough Crown To Bestow

Season's Grid Campaign Now Reaches Heavy Debating Stage

By DON STULL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—This is the time of year that the high school football campaign turns into a debate.

At the fag end of the biggest scholastic grid season in history, supporters of teams with outstanding records stand ready to [illegible] claim to the mythical Ohio schoolboy title.

But this year again it's a tough crown to fit.

In Toledo, for example, it's [illegible] impossible to determine the city's best club — let alone name the top contender for state-wide honors.

Toledo Waite followers, pointing to last week's 40-6 trouncing of the always potent Massillon [illegible] feel their team is without peer.

Plenty of Dissenters

But among Toledo Libbey's fans they'll find plenty of dissent. Libbey handed Waite its only defeat of the year, an 8-6 verdict, but was held to a scoreless tie by Toledo Woodward. Libbey virtually erased that tie, however, by downing the Woodward Cowboys, 40-13, in a second meeting last week, and gets a chance Friday to strengthen its claim by meeting once-beaten Barberton. Waite tangles with Toledo DeVilbiss the same day.

The title picture wasn't completely clear in Columbus, either. Suburban Upper Arlington finished the campaign with nine straight victories to win the Central Buckeye league title. But Linden McKinley copped the city championship and wound up with eight triumphs and a scoreless tie with Marion Harding on its record.

Play-Off Ruled Out

McKinley, which started football only four seasons ago, sought a post-season game with Arlington's Golden Bears, but officials said "No."

In the Youngstown area, picking the champ wasn't so tough. Youngstown's Woodrow Wilson finished with nine straight, the city's only unbeaten, untied squad.

The situation was still to be settled at Cincinnati. Cincy Purcell emerged from a brace of Sunday games as the Queen City's only perfect eleven as St. Xavier, previously unbeaten and untied, dropped a 13-0 tilt to Roger Bacon. Purcell thumped Cincy Elder, [illegible]-0, but must get by St. Xavier next Sunday to claim the crown without challenge.

Steubenville Chimes In

Farther up the Ohio river, Steubenville Central's unbeaten but once-tied combine may voice a bid claim, too, if they can get by Campbell Memorial's once-beaten club at Youngstown Friday night. Central's tie was a [illegible]6 affair with Weirton, West Virginia's top-ranking team.

Lima Central and Troy also are still to be heard from. Lima Central tries to make it a perfect year against Lima South in a tradition-steeped battle Friday, while Troy will be gunning for an all-victorious campaign in winding up with Piqua the same day.

Cleveland Cathedral Latin, an annual title contender, wound up its eighth unbeaten season of the last decade with a 69-0 trouncing of Cleveland Central. The Latins, held to a 0-0 deadlock by Cleveland Holy Name this year, have won 56 of their last 61 games.

While the class A picture appears jumbled beyond decision, the class B race is even more difficult to determine. Elida, which finished its second consecutive perfect season last week, looks like the tops in the junior ranks with 20 triumphs in a row. But Lockland of near Cincinnati can match that streak with triumphs over Plainville Friday and Reading the following week.

Among the class B contenders who finished with unblemished slates are: McDonald of Mahoning county; Worthington of Franklin, and Arlington of Hancock.

Yorkville of the Steubenville district needs only a triumph over Bellaire St. John Friday to enter that circle with 10 in a row for the season.

TOLEDO TRIPS WAYNE AS MARIETTA FALLS

Buckeyes Even in Out-of-State Grid Battles.

By The Associated Press

Toledo university warded off a last period rally to defeat Wayne university 14 to 6 and Marietta took a 33 to 20 beating from West Virginia Wesleyan at Parkersburg in the only gridiron contests involving Ohio elevens last night.

Fullback Gene Stauber opened Toledo's scoring after he drove over right tackle from the Wayne five-yard line in the second quarter. In the third period, quarterback Lee Pete received a 22-yard pass in the end zone for the Rockets' second goal. Shutt converted both times.

Wayne rallied in the final period as halfback Bruce Waha hurled a pass 15 yards to Bill Foley behind the goal line. The invaders menaced again but fumbled on Toledo's five-yard stripe.

Marietta, held to seven points in the first three quarters, made a 13-point splurge in the final period when Ed Manke passed to Harland Johnson from the Wesleyan eight-yard line for a goal and Chester Waterman piled over from the Bobcat one for the second touchdown of the quarter.

The Pioneers' first touchdown came in the second quarter on a recovered fumble and quarterback Bobby Weaver's 28-yard pass to end Rolland Rutherford.

Halfback Charley Sheppard led the Wesleyan attack with two six-pointers while Pugh, Mazzei and Patterson registered one apiece. The home team opened with one in the first period, added another in the second, two touchdowns in the third period and piled on another in the final quarter.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Nov. 12—The French licensed Berlin Newspaper Kurier, quoting dispatches from Paris, said yesterday the Russians were building copies of the American B-29 superfortress bomber in factories beyond the Urals.

The dispatches, attributed to "American Air Force intelligence" circles, said the Russians had put into service numerous superfortresses which came down in Manchuria during the war and were using these as models in their own manufacture.

ARMY MAY GET BID TO ROSE BOWL TILT

Rumors Fly as Big 9 Complete Balloting on Proposal.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 12—While the Rose Bowl's seven-man selection committee on the coast is being asked to explore the possibility of Army accepting a bid, the Western conference is expected to take formal action within the next two weeks to settle a 5-year contract with the Pacific Coast conference for successive representation at Pasadena starting on New Year's Day.

The Big Nine, after polling its membership, appeared assured today of a 7-2 unanimity in favoring a hook-up with the Coast league whereby the Western conference champion, or an alternate, would play in the Rose Bowl three consecutive years and then name an eastern or central team for representation the last two years.

Northwestern is the last school to signify approval of the plan, joining Ohio State, Iowa, Michigan, Purdue, Indiana and Wisconsin on the affirmative against Illinois and Minnesota which voted negatively.

The ballots have been sent to Prof. Frank Richart of Illinois, acting chairman and secretary of the Western conference's faculty committee. He said an official announcement of the results could be expected before the end of the month.

The official count presumably would be made before Nov. 23, the closing day of the Western conference grid season and the date Southern California and U.C.L.A. play for the coast championship. Soon afterwards, the Rose Bowl selection committee is expected to announce its bid.

In Los Angeles yesterday Willis O. Hunter of U.S.C., chairman of the committee was asked by the Los Angeles chapter of the Football Writers association to investigate the possibilities of Army accepting a bid. And the Los Angeles Times was reported as saying "If Army completes its schedule successfully, the Cadets will be receptive to a Rose Bowl bid."

Army Still Rated No. 1 Team Despite Tie With Notre Dame

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Army and Notre Dame fought to a scoreless tie in their historic grid battle here last Saturday but when the votes were counted today in the weekly poll of The Associated Press to pick the nation's ten top teams the Cadets wound up in first place by a very narrow margin.

Among the 144 writers who participated in the poll, including the sports editor of the Stars and Stripes in Germany, 57 of them cast first-place ballots for Army and 31 decided that Notre Dame should be on top.

Thirty-six of them had as much trouble reaching a decision as the teams themselves had on the field. These 36 votes for a first-place tie between the two.

On the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, and so on, the Cadets came up with a total of 1,300½ points against 1,268½ for Notre Dame.

Georgia's all-victorious Bulldogs, who downed Florida, 33-14, for their seventh triumph of the season, retained the third position in the standings with 12 first-place votes and a total of 1,061½ points.

The seven remaining first-place votes went to the University of California at Los Angeles, which kept its record clean with a 14-0 victory over Oregon and held on to fourth place of 961½ points.

Pennsylvania jumped from ninth to fifth place. Texas clung to sixth, while Georgia Tech moved into seventh, Tennessee dropped from seventh to eighth, Illinois moved from tenth to ninth and Michigan landed in the tenth spot.

Ohio State was third in the second ten with 93 points, being topped by Louisiana State with 149½ and Southern California with 96.

Huber Co. Representative In Sweden Talks To Lions Club

Guest speaker at the Lions club luncheon meeting Monday at Hotel Harding was Tage Olby of the Swedish Trading Co. in Stockholm, Sweden, and distributor for the Huber Manufacturing Co. in Sweden. He spoke of Swedish roads, how they are built, and the labor conditions in connection with their construction.

After giving some of the background of his native land Mr. Olby said Sweden is the oldest nation in the world, and compared with other European nations is a large country with six and one-half million population. It is 1,200 miles long, with one-seventh of this distance located north of the Arctic Circle. Mr. Olby said the weather is very pleasant due to the gulf stream, and this makes warmer winters.

Wartime Shortage

He stated that most of the materials used in manufacturing, such as coal and oil, have to be imported. Thus, during the war, they were cut off from these materials and it was necessary to curtail the use of fuels in heating of homes and other buildings. Mr. Olby pointed out that in his home he had no hot water for six years except for special occasions, and that cars were converted to wood or coal burners which generated their own gas due to the shortage of petroleum.

In speaking of the roads of Sweden, Mr. Olby said they are very narrow with many sharp curves and usually are constructed of gravel. Sweden has only 56,000 miles of roads and they are numbered according to their classification so that it is possible to know the type of road by knowing the number. Maintenance is quite a problem, Mr. Olby explained, due to the extreme weather conditions. Many of them have to be blocked off during the winter and when the spring thaw comes, it sometimes takes the road out entirely.

Contract System Explained

Mr. Olby said contractors are few, there being only 10 or 12 large ones. They bid on government road construction much like is done in the United States, and laborers are paid on an hourly or piece work basis. Mr. Olby said substitutes made during the war for asphalt in building paved roads was not holding up very well, and that it is necessary to rebuild these roads. He reported that Sweden has a large road building program in progress at present.

Mr. Olby was introduced by Jack Danner, program chairman for the month.

Bazaar Plans Under Way

John Gillis reported on progress of the committee making plans for the annual charity bazaar Nov. 20-22 in the Star auditorium. An advance ticket sale is being conducted and can be obtained from any Lion member. Members will meet in the auditorium Sunday afternoon to complete preparations.

A short talk in recognition of key award members was made by the club's first president, Edward Ruzzo. He introduced the 22 key members and the two master key members. A key award is won when a member sponsors two new members within a 12-month period, and a master key award is given to a member who sponsors 12 new members.

Guests were Ray Balderson, a Lion member from Norwalk, and a former Marion resident, Jose Figueras from Porto Alegre, Brazil, and Ben Wiant, Don Howard, Robert O'Connell, William Ehrick, Chauncey Lake and George Irwin, all of Marion.

3 Japs Innocent Of War Guilt, Grew Says

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Nov. 12—Statements that Japan rehearsed its Pearl Harbor attack five months in advance and that former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew believes three of the 27 top Japanese defendants are innocent were made to the international war crimes court today.

An affidavit from Grew, who war, said the three "in my opinion war, said the thee "in my opinion were wholly opposed to war and exerted their efforts to avoid war." It startled the courtroom but Sir William Webb, tribunal president, ruled that it could not be introduced by the defense until it opens its case, probably in December.

Defense Attorney David F. Smith, New York, told the court "this seems to eliminate three defendants from this case." They are Kiichiro Hiranuma, former prime minister, and Koki Hirota and Mamoru Shigemitsu, former foreign ministers.

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov 12—Ever since it began, network radio has had a time-zone bugaboo That's due to the wide expanse of the country and its division into eastern, central, mountain time areas Thus there's from one to three hours difference between the clock hour for a program originating in the east at 8 o'clock until it finally lands on the west coast In daylight savings periods the spread is an hour greater

Comes a proposal intended as a solution from William B Lewis, former CBS vice president and now an advertising agency executive It has been called "clock broadcasting"

He would have every network show go on at the same hour local time This is the way he would do it All programs would be started out "live" for the eastern zone, with Chicago, Denver and Los Angeles offices included in the hookup There recordings would be made and the programs held until the corresponding local times for retransmission

This is a plan similar to that used with parts of their schedules last summer during daylight time by MBS and ABC, but which Lewis said did not work out too satisfactorily because it was not universally adopted

• • •

Bing Crosby's recorded show on ABC, which started out with a Hooper rating of 24 per cent, had dropped considerably by the time of last week's broadcast. That was given 12 2 per cent, somewhat lower than had been anticipated

• • •

Tuning tonight NBC—8 Rudy Vallee and Lou Holtz, 9 Amos and Andy, 9 30 Fibber McGee and Molly, 10 Bob Hope

Plans for construction of a frequency modulation and television transmission station have been announced at Cincinnati by James D Shouse, president of the Crosley Broadcasting Corporation At a cost of $170 000 construction will begin immediately at a site owned by the corporation in Clifton Heights a suburb of Cincinnati, a few miles from the downtown area

Until the new building and 575-foot tower are completed, the Crosley 1 000-watt FM station will broadcast from the 48th floor of Carew Tower in downtown Cincinnati Call letters for the station will be WLWA

All times given are Eastern Standard Time Erroneous listings if any are caused by last minute changes made by stations and networks the houses of congress if the president pro tempore of the senate or the speaker succeeded him.

They adhered to the fundamental principle that the president must be elected Therefore they did not believe, as we do that a presidential election could be held only every fourth year

Difficult To Change Habits

I realize how difficult it is for a nation to change its political habits But there is an organic weakness in our system of government which could have, and may have, serious consequences We have a president, who has no legally elected successor, and this president has been repudiated in mid-term by the voters

By no[illegible] fortunately, is a fine public servant of presidential caliber But no man is immortal and the next in line is Snyder who with all due respect, is a novice in public life We may be able however to muddle through the difficulties of the midterm stalemate given the good will which Mr Truman and the Republican leaders promise

But it will be well to bear in mind that a better solution than these is permissible Even if we do not adopt it, the fact that we are discussing it should exert a favorable influence upon the president and upon congress

It will be useful in the difficult days to come to have it established in our minds that our Constitutional system is not so rigid as we often think that the resignation of a president, when it is in the public interest is not morally or legally outlawed, that the risks of having a president who was not elected but only appointed, and the risks of the midterm stalemate are not inherent and inevitable in our form of government

If we cannot muddle through there is therefore another way open to us We have only to operate the Constitution as the men who wrote it thought it should operate If we are the prisoners of a rigid system today the fault lies not in the Constitution but in our own habits which have only rather recently become so hard and so fixed

PAC REPORTED WINNING 73 OF 318 HOUSE SEATS

New York Times Calls Recent Election Major Defeat.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—The New York Times said yesterday in a Washinton dispatch that congressional seats won in last week's elections by candidates supported by the CIO's Political Action committee and its ally, the national citizens' PAC, totaled 73 in 318 contests.

Jack Kroll, national director of the CIO-PAC, declined to comment on the Times story, and officials of the group said the election results would not come under study by the PAC until next week's convention at Atlantic City.

The Times said "the extent of the political defeat suffered" by the CIO committee and the national citizens PAC "is apparent" in the compilation, which the newspaper said embraced 34 states, including West Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri and Maryland, but no state in the "solid south."

The newspaper said it was possible that in a few districts the PAC indorsed no candidate.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I FELT myself stiffen with resentment at Hugh Grantland's high-handed rebuke of my coming down to the street subterranean room by myself. It was the sort of language, I told myself, that only a husband or a brother should be privileged to use. Hugh was neither, and yet I was ashamed of the vagrant little thrill at his fiercely protective attitude which faintly threaded my resentment.

But I let no hint of any softening thrill appear in my answer.

A Cold Reply

"You will have to take that question up with my father, if you have the temerity," I said coldly. "I am here at his bidding—he sent me no escort, but he did specify haste. Please listen to my message from him, for I must return as soon as I have delivered it."

"You will not go back across that attic alone," he said, with ice in his own voice.

From his bed Lee Chow's thin, feeble voice struck in.

"Can you not settle that later?" he asked. "I should like to hear the Chief's message."

I crossed to Lee Chow's side, ignoring Hugh.

"I will tell you over here," I said, "so you will not have to strain your ears."

Repeats the Story

"Thank you," he said, and not looking toward Hugh, but making sure that my voice reached him, I repeated the bizarre story Bertha Kent had brought to us.

"Did your father make any comment?" Hugh asked when I had finished.

I edged toward the door as I answered.

"None whatever," I said, and then I had dodged Hugh's outstretched hand, had flung open the door, slammed it shut again, and was running up the winding stairs.

I could hear him pounding behind me, but I am fleet of foot, and I got the chimney breast open and shut again almost in his face. Then I ran lightly across the attic floor, hearing him again behind me, and reached the second floor just in time to close and lock the door before he reached the first step of the attic stairway.

No Time to Think

I heard nothing more of Hugh, and had no time to think of him, for "Mr. K." stood to one side of the door to the attic stairway.

"I hope you have an answer to this cross word puzzle," he said, smiling, but with muted voice. "Your father, ostensibly sending me on an errand to Brixton's suite, directed me in code to wait for you here."

"I have a message which he wishes you to hear—and mull over," I said. "He also wishes you to return to the dining room about two minutes after I reach there."

"I will remember that," he said, and without further ado I repeated for the second time the message Bertha Kent had brought.

He made but one comment when I had finished my story.

"I have worked with 'X' a number of times," he said. "A sterling chap, and a most ingenious and resourceful one."

"I will leave you to 'mull over' the message, as my father asked," I said, "and, so, au revoir."

With Twinkling Eyes

"The same to you and many of them," he said with twinkling eyes, and I repressed a mischievous, nagging impulse to remind him once more that my father expected him back in the dining room two minutes after I should reach there. Instead, with a "Thank you," I hurried away down the corridor and the stairs to the first floor, pausing for an instant before the closed dining room door to "recharge my will."

I expected everybody to look up as I entered the room, and I told myself that I also had anticipated the squirrel-like cunning which looked out at me from Helena Brixton's eyes, and the frankly inquisitive look from those of her daughter, Carolyn. They had not been fooled for a second by my father's explanation of my call to the kitchen. They were suspecting something, but I was thankful that they could not guess the truth.

Lillian was the first to voice a casual question.

"Did the neighbor get outfitted?" she asked.
